

ALEXANDRIA, VA.
FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21.

BY THE proposed partisan bill to reappoint congressional representation which the republicans in Congress will attempt to force through that body at its coming short session, Virginia's representation in the U. S. House of Representatives, from 1892, the present number, will be reduced to nine. There are three white republican congressmen from Virginia in the present House. Will they vote to deprive their own State of her proper representation in Congress? Their action on the Force bill, on the admission of Langston, and on the McKinley bill, which imposes a tax on the tobacco the Virginia farmer raises and on everything Virginia people have to buy, affords no reason to hope that they will not.

AS STATED in yesterday's GAZETTE, the Concord, the new government vessel, has been tried and been pronounced a failure. The experiments the U. S. government has made of late years in the construction of ships and heavy guns have been enormous in expense, and with the exception of a few cases, entirely unsatisfactory. But in the work referred to improved foreign material was not allowed to be used, nor were foreign mechanics, skilled in certain parts of their trade in which Americans have not yet become proficient, permitted to be employed. Wise governments, in nations works, use the best material and employ the most skillful workmen that can be obtained.

THE MOST ridiculous thing in modern politics is the recent appeal Mr. W. E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, has made to the democrats of his own State, not to elect the legislature of that State. The man who received the Navy Department as his part of the swag of the Presidential theft in 1876, and whose own hands committed the Florida part of that theft, asking honest men not to elect the vote of another State, but to let him do it! Why, Mr. Chandler himself must have laughed when he made this request. But he likes wages, and wagers, too, except Senator Blackburn, who wagged his ear.

AT THE Presidential election of 1888 the democratic majority in the country was one hundred thousand, and yet, though the northern republicans say a negro majority in any southern State must rule that State, Mr. Harrison was elected. At the election held on the 4th instant, the democratic majority in all the States was over six hundred thousand. If the increase during the next two years be at equal ratio, the democratic Presidential candidate in '92 will be elected by what may practically be considered a unanimous vote.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21, 1890.
The latest election news from Iowa to-day is to the effect that Congressman Henderson of that State, who, next to Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts, made the most gratuitous assault upon the South during the debate on the Force bill, like all the other prominent ultra South-baiters on his side of the House, has also been defeated. It was indeed a famous victory, and should not be frittered away.

From the way some of the democratic congressmen who have returned talk, it is supposed they will not oppose appropriations to supply any deficiency nor make factious opposition to any of the regular appropriation bills, but that as regards the Force bill and the proposed reappointment bill, all of Mr. Speaker Reed's one-man power will have to be exerted in order to force them into submission. The republican members who have arrived say they will go on with such legislation as suits them, just the same as if no election had been held, but that for fear there may be a deficit in the Treasury, they will cut appropriations very close and make none that are not absolutely required.

Ex-Congressman Dezsoudy of Virginia, who is still here, says that in his State, and so far as he knows, in the whole South, Secretary Blaine is the favorite of the republicans of that section for the next Presidency, and that he believes if the national republican convention were held to-morrow Mr. Blaine would be nominated unanimously. It is his belief it will be another dreadful setback to both Gen. Mahone and his present enemy, Mr. John Wise, as neither of them is a favorite of Mr. Blaine, and as the latter once said if Mr. Blaine were nominated for President he would go in his hole and pull the hole in after him.

The custom officers at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, Norfolk and Newport News have been informed of the appointment of veterinary inspectors of those ports by the secretary of agriculture, who has instructed them to defer their refusal of clearance to vessels carrying cattle or sheep until said cattle have been duly inspected. The inspector at Norfolk, Baltimore and Newport News is Dr. G. C. Favill.

The new west front of the Capitol has been ornamented with massive brass lamp posts and flower pots. Trees were at first planted on the new terrace, but as they tended to increase the glatly appearance of the building, they were dug up and replaced by large flower beds.

The following changes in the 4th class post-offices of Virginia were made to-day: Air Point, Rancoke county, Nancy C. Powell appointed postmaster vice M. F. Finell, resigned; Crimora Station, Augusta county, J. S. Scroggins vice W. R. Tally, resigned; Marksville, Page county, H. L. Koonz vice W. B. Kendall, resigned; Kets, Bedford county, Calley E. Wood vice J. E. Wood, resigned; Wakema, King William county, W. P. Bray vice R. T. Owen, resigned.

As there are only sixty-two committees of the House there will be plenty of republicans to have places on them, notwithstanding the small number elected, but most of them will have to be doubled up, that is will have to be on two or three different committees. As the Alliance men will also have to be represented on the committees there will probably be two republicans and one Alliance man on each of them.

Congressman Waddill of Virginia is here to-day. He said he would not have been surprised at a simple republican defeat at the recent election, but was surprised at its magnitude. He sees in it, however, no reason for changing his ideas on the necessity of an election bill even more effective than the Force bill. Mr. Waddill was wise enough to see the coming deluge in his own district, and so he refused to be a candidate for re-election, and saved the expense of a campaign.

As the Senate will be close in 1892, the republicans will, it is said here to-day, during the coming short session of Congress attempt to rush through a bill disfranchising the Mormons in Utah, nearly all of whom are Mormons, and then admit that Territory as a State into the Union with two republican U. S. Senators. The need of the republicans is great, but the democrats have their eyes wide open.

Ladies with pet dogs, and even cats, in their laps are common sights on the street cars in this city, but to-day a richly dressed one entered a car in a fashionable part of the city with a live and perfectly tamed canary bird perched upon her wrist.

MARSHALL, Va., Nov. 19, 1890.—The Hard Times social given to the friends and members of the club at their elegant apartments Tuesday evening, was indeed one of the most unique and enjoyable events of the season. The visitors were met at the door by the reception committee and taken to the clerk of the registry, who, after carefully recording the pedigree of each one in a great book provided for the purpose, gave them into the hands of the obsequious usher, who introduced them with great ceremony to the assembled guests. The capacious reception rooms truly presented a scene thoroughly in accord with the character of the occasion. To each one there was a floor, four walls and a roof and an open fire place. The seating accommodation of each room consisted of two rows of upholstered pine boards, supported by sturdy pillars, magnificently carved. The ceiling was lighted by the electric light. Our reportorial brain reeled and utterly failed when we attempted to describe the diversified costumes to which the condition of the times (and the McKinley bill) has reduced those who attended this social. After spending a couple of hours in discussing old times, the pie eat hard times and the forbidding aspect of the future, the hearts of all were gladdened by the cheering announcement of refreshments, consisting of cheese, crackers and cucumber pickles. After doing justice to this banquet, the company dispersed with many pleasant reflections. Among those present we noticed the following distinguished personages: Mr. and Mrs. Althea, Col. and Mrs. Hardup, Miss Arelia, Samantha Green, Dr. Wagoner, Dr. Sander, and son, Miss Vinegar Bitters, Tim and Bridget, M.oney, Bill Nye, Mrs. Murphy, Annie Lewis and cousin, Miss Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Killarick, Lord P. and Mrs. Sevenup, Annie Rovere, Mrs. Howling Wayback and Patrick McGinty.

FORREST.

Letter from William and Mary College.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY, Nov. 19.—The all-boring object of interest here this week is the tournament held to-day near the town of Williamsburg. About twenty knights competed for the various honors. The best prize, a top buggy, was won by Mr. J. E. Bakey, the Knight of Middlesex; the second, a gold watch, by Mr. H. F. Wyckoff, the Knight of London; the third, a saddle, by Mr. R. A. Trekkie, the White Stone Knight; the fourth, a pair of gold spurs, by Mr. W. M. Brown, the Knight of Lancaster.

Two of the College faculty received an invitation a few days ago from the teachers of Hampton and the surrounding country to come down and hold a Teachers' Institute. The invitation was accepted with pleasure, and on last Friday, November 14, Prof. Hall, the professor of English and history, left for Hampton, and having delivered a number of lectures to the teachers there returned Saturday evening. Prof. Stubbs went down on Monday morning and gave them a lecture on the subject of mathematics, which was also very important to the teachers of the public schools. Such things show the willingness of William and Mary to do all in her power for the advancement of education and to help the teachers of the public schools.

William and Mary went out from her halls last year a large number of young men, who are now teaching in the public schools of Virginia, and this year she expects to send out many more.

DECISIONS.—Decisions were rendered by the Court of Appeals of Virginia yesterday in two cases of a unique and unusual character. Finley against Brent, a case in which certain church property left to the Methodists in Northumberland county before the denomination divided into Northern and Southern churches, was in litigation. When the war was over the Southern Methodists were left in possession. Later on the Northern wing came in and claimed the property on the ground that the others were not the original denomination to whom the church belonged. The Supreme Court decided in favor of the Northern body.

The other case was one in which the Legislature authorized the people of Warwick county to vote upon the question of moving the court house whenever a petition asking for the election should be signed by persons paying one-third or more of the taxes of the county. The point in controversy was if the word "persons" included "corporations," without whose signature no election could have been held. Judge Fauntleroy delivered the opinion, which held that it was manifestly the intention of the Legislature to allow the corporations to sign the petition for the election which would have to be decided by the qualified voters of the county.

Coal in Prince William.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

For some time past I have been reading of booms in various parts of this State, and had almost despaired of having one in this part of it until recently. Only one mile from this village, on Mr. Richard Sweeney's farm, there has been discovered coal. Its location is in the bed of South run, about 100 yards from or above where it empties into Broad run. I will send you a sample of it which came from the top of a ledge that extends across the stream. Under the back better specimens have been procured. Mr. Sweeney, I understand, has given an option on his farm at $50 per acre and to have one-fourth interest in net profits of the mine. So you see with the coal mine, in connection with the magnificent water power right here, we are likely to have at last a boom. I have seen one or two notices of this coal discovery, but they located it in Fauquier county. It is in Prince William county.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The bickerings over the World's Fair seemingly have come to an end and the site question has been settled.

Mr. Parnell has notified his colleagues that as long as he is supported by them and the Irish people he will remain at the helm in politics.

Michael Davitt, in the Irish Labor World, says editorially that Parnell, for the good of his party, should retire from public life for a time and marry Mrs. O'Shea.

The Alabama democratic caucus took three ballots last night. The last stood—Pugh, 40; Kohl, 42; Say, 27; Watts, 91, and 9 divided between Congressmen Clarke and Wheeler.

Burglars entered the postoffice at Silver Creek, Chautauqua county, N. Y., last night, forced open the safe, and stole about $900 worth of stamps, three registered letters and $18 in money.

As stated yesterday, Barker Bros. & Co., bankers and brokers of Philadelphia, have assigned. The liabilities are estimated from $6,000,000 to $15,000,000. Mr. Wharton Barker says the firm's assets will exceed the liabilities by at least $1,000,000.

While sinking an artesian well for a street railway company in Galveston yesterday a contractor struck a stratum of absolutely pure water at a depth of 310 feet. The well yields only 75,000 gallons a day, but is regarded by Galveston people as second in importance to the deep water harbor alone. Other wells will be sunk near the present one.

The people of Potsdam, Germany, last night arranged for a simultaneous illumination of the heights around the town at the moment of the arrival of Prince Adolph of Schaumburg-Lippe and his bride, who is a sister of Emperor William. A passenger train came along, was mistaken for the bridal train, and up blazed the fire. When the bridal train did arrive the illumination was all over.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

Mr. Henry Fairfax of Loudoun county, has leased to New York parties for four months his fine hockery stallion Matchless, for $3,500 cash. This horse took the first premium as the best hackney at the recent New York horse show.

Captain Wm. Parrish, the oldest member of the Virginia Pilots' Association, died at his home in Berkeley last night. He was pilot of the famous Confederate ironclad Merrimack at the time of her battle with the Monitor and the frigates Cumberland and Congress in Hampton Roads, and afterwards served with distinction in the navy of the Southern Confederacy.

Gov. McKimney has appointed about a hundred delegates to represent this State at the interstate immigration convention to be held at Asheville, N. C., December 17. Among the delegates are Congressman J. D. Epps, of Nottoway; ex-Congressman Jacob Yost, of Staunton; James A. Frazier, of Rockbridge; A. P. Funkhouser, of Rockingham; ex-Archbishop General R. A. Ayers, of Orange; A. Browne, the manager of Congressional Senate farm in Northampton; Gen. Samuel B. Newberry, of Blaine; Pierce Brent, of Accomack; S. W. Williams, of Wytheville, and C. F. Trigg, of Abingdon.

ELOPEMENT.—Among the passengers on the Norfolk and Western train, which arrived at Lynchburg yesterday, was Mr. Elijah Harlow, a well-to-do farmer, who lives near Bigley's Store, in Appomattox county. In June last Mr. Harlow, who is about fifty years old, married a Miss Burton, of Barboursville, aged about twenty-two years. He brought his young bride to his Appomattox home shortly after the wedding, since which time they have, to all appearances, lived happily together. A frequent visitor to the Harlow home was a young man named George Kent, who formerly lived near Gordonsville, where Mr. Harlow resided before moving to Appomattox. Being an old friend of Kent, Mr. Harlow never suspected him of any bad intentions until Wednesday. Returning home from the field at dinner time he found his wife absent. Thinking she had gone to visit some neighbor he ate a cold dinner. Shortly afterward a friend drove by his house and asked him where his wife and Kent were going. Harlow replied that he did not know. But on being told that they had boarded the Norfolk and Western train at Pamplin, he became suspicious.

He returned to the house, and after an investigation, found that his wife's trunk was gone, together with about $400 of his money. He went to Lynchburg yesterday morning and took the Virginia Midland train for Orange Court House in search of his trust wife. Mr. Harlow takes the matter very philosophically, and says if he can get half of his money back he will call it square and Kent can have the woman, as he will never forgive her.

TEN WHEEL LOCOMOTIVES.—The Southwestern Railway Club, composed of master mechanics and master car-builders, held its third meeting yesterday in Nashville. Most of the large southern lines were represented. It was decided the ten-wheeled engine was preferable to the eight-wheeled mogul engine for heavy freight and fast passenger service, especially where there are many curves on the road.

A few applications of Odeau's Catarrh Cure will convince the most sceptical of its healing power. It costs but 25 cents a box.

It is no wonder that so many mothers praise Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. One of our best physicians pronounced it to be the only safe remedy for children. It is cheap, only 25 cents.

The run on the Citizens Savings bank, in New York, was continued in full force to-day.

A peculiar and fatal disease among cattle and horses, is raging in Oregon and adjoining counties in Kansas. Over 100 head are said to have died, and the disease baffles the skill of veterinary surgeons.

Six persons in a boarding house in Chicago were seriously poisoned last night at supper. The supposition is that the poison was put in a mutton stew by a colored waiter who was discharged yesterday.

The grand jury in New Orleans late last night found true bill against the seventeen men under arrest, charged with the murder of Chief of Police David C. Hennessy. The trial will be fixed at an early date.

Luther L. Ewing, who represented one of the districts of San Francisco in the State assembly for the past four years has been arrested on the charge of embezzling $6,000 from a street car company for which he was collector.

The leaders of the Farmers Alliance in session in Indianapolis, Ind., say that the movement will be made more prominent in politics in the future, and that before 1892 all of the farmer organizations in the State will be united.

Two cars of a freight train on the Meriden, Waterbury and Connecticut R. R. were thrown down a forty-foot embankment near Meriden this morning by the dropping of a brake beam. Two men were injured, one of them fatally.

The 26th ward bank of Brooklyn was robbed yesterday of a package containing $5,000 in bills. The work is supposed to be that of a band of clever sneak thieves who engaged the attention of the officers while the bank was robbed.

Senator Cullum said yesterday at Joliet, Ill., that the McKinley bill would have to undergo material modifications before it would be acceptable to the people. The interstate commerce bill would also have to be modified; in short, everything would have to be revamped politically.

The papers in the contest begun by the independent to test the legality of the election of James F. Boyd (dem.) as Governor, and the republicans on the Nebraska State ticket have been served.

Mr. Jay Gould says the report that he has obtained control of the St. Joseph, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad is erroneous, although he owns a considerable portion of the stock.

The Vanderbilt people now admit that Gould has got control of the Union Pacific.

BARKING BROS.—It is reported in London that the house of Barking Bros. & Co. is about to be reconstructed as a joint stock company. Mr. Barking has offered to return, bringing £1,000,000. The Hambroes will probably imitate with the Barkings, and fresh capital will be contributed by one of the Guinness family. The rumor that the Rothschilds had pledged £1,000,000 as a guarantee for the payment of the Argentine dividends is unfounded.

Mrs. S. M. Smith, who for some years resided at Gunston Hall, died after a long illness at Kingston, Kas., on the 17th inst. She will be buried at Pohick Church yard tomorrow.

To trifle with a severe cough or cold is certainly trifling with one's health. We advise all to take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents. Many persons will not be without a supply of Salvation Oil. In winter they want it for frostbites, chapped hands and chilblains; in summer for the stings of bees and wasps; and all the year round for cuts, bruises, scalds and burns.

The Indian Scare

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D. Nov. 21.—The dancing Indians have the agency and the surrounding country in a state of terror, as the ghost dances are still going on. Yesterday a large band of Indians left Rosebud agency and headed this way. It is possible that the dancing Indians may consolidate their forces at Wounded Knee and in that case a fight may be expected at any moment.

It is probable that with the force now here no attempt will be made to stop the dancing at present. News from Wounded Knee last night was to the effect that the ghost dances were being held nightly and that all the Indians collected there were excited, threatening and boisterous. The rumor that the troops were coming only elicited threats in response. The Indians declared their Messiah was advising them and encouraging them every day and that the dances could not be stopped. It is reported that several hundred Indians have congregated nine miles from this place. They are all heavily armed and are expecting the Rosebud Sioux to join them shortly.

FORT NIobrara, Neb., Nov. 21.—The troops from this point reached Rosebud agency yesterday and found all quiet and peaceful. The Messiah crew has been much more extended at Pine Ridge than here. The people here apprehend no trouble and it is believed that there will be no trouble at Pine Ridge.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Telegram received at the War Department state that the Yanktons and Gros Ventres, on the upper Missouri, have adopted the Messiah crew, and that Sitting Bull has sent emissaries to these tribes, and to the Sioux north of the British line, inciting them to get arms and ammunition and join the other warlike near Black Hills in the spring. Every effort is being made to allay the tumult, but the overt act of the desperate ones may cause a general uprising. The artillery at Fort Riley is to be held in readiness if required for service.

Foreign News.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—The municipal authorities have a letter to Prof. Koch five buildings in the suburb of Berlin, for the purpose of adding him in carrying on his experiments looking to the discovery of a cure for scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria and typhus fever. Prof. Koch will also carry on his investigation into the cure of cancer. The professor considers that his labors in connection with tuberculosis are finished.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A collision occurred on the Thames to-day between the steamer Indian Prince, from Rival, and the steamer T. E. Forster. The Forster was sunk and the Indian Prince lost her crew.

The trial of the action brought by Robert William Buchanan, the dramatic author, against Mrs. Langtry for damages for breach of contract in refusing to open her last New York dramatic season with the play "Lady Clidye," was concluded to-day. Mrs. Langtry was adjudged guilty of breach of contract, and a judgment in the sum of 150 pounds was entered against her.

Ritualistic Practices

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Archbishop of Canterbury has delivered judgment against Rev. Dr. Edward King, Bishop of Lincoln, who was charged with ritualistic practices, regarding the jurisdiction of the ecclesiastical court and his obligation to obey the rubrical directions in the prayer book. The archbishop suspended judgment in regard to the bishop's rubrical irregularities. The mixing of water with the wine used in the act of consecration, the archbishop holds, infringing the law of the church, but the use of a mixed chalice prepared beforehand did not offend the ecclesiastical law. The charge against the bishop regarding ablution was dismissed, it not being supported by the evidence. The archbishop decided that Dr. King's action in turning his face to the east during communion, and thus making his manual acts invisible, was illegal. The acts must be visible to the congregation. The singing of the hymn "Agnus Dei" during communion was not illegal.

The archbishop holds that the placing of lighted candles upon the altar for ceremony during the services when they are not wanted for light is not illegal, although such act is distasteful to many communicants. The bishop, he says, is quite unjustified in making the sign of the cross in pronouncing absolution and the benediction. Each side was adjudged to pay its own costs.

From Honduras

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21.—The steamer City of Dallas has arrived with latest intelligence of the revolt in Honduras. Captain Hardie says: "I understood though the army of Porraz was victorious, victory was due to the valor of the Americans who numbered about 500 men under Major E. A. Burke, of New Orleans, and James Imboden. About an hour before we left a telegram was received by General Katt from President Bogran, proclaiming peace and acknowledging the gratitude of the nation to the Americans for turning the tide in their favor." General Sanchez was not captured and executed, as reported. He died game. His son was captured and is reported to have been executed. Sanchez was the last man whom Bogran supposed would turn traitor to him, as he was his confidential adviser and a close friend.

The Shibuya Jugo Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The case of the Japanese, Shibuya Jugo, confined in Sing Sing prison, New York, under sentence of death by electricity, was argued before the U. S. Supreme Court to-day. Counsel for Jugo asserts that electricity is not a painless method of death, and that the New York law violates the provision of the federal Constitution forbidding "cruel and unusual punishment."

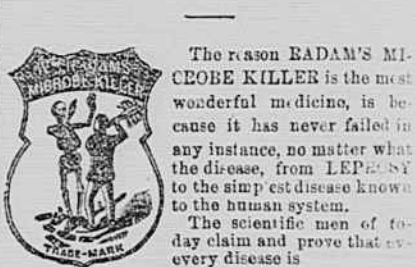

The London Stock Market
